SUBJECT:

Revised Personal History Statement and Annual Supplement

- 1. This memorardum submits a reconserdation for approval of the Deputy Director of Central Intelligence. Such recommendatics is contained in puregraph 7.
- 2. Tab & (attached) is a proposed revision of the foremal Elstory Statement to be completed by all candidates for employment with the Agency. Applicants also maint with the Personal History Statement on Appendix I which contains the Attorney General's list and which has recently been revised to include secciation with these organizations of the applicant's relatives as well as any affiliation of his own. The revised Personal History Statement accomplishes the consolidation of the present form (Tab A-1) and the present qualifications questionnaire (Tab A-6) and provides a more comprehensive and messingful coverage of qualification factors such as education, language, and area knowledge. Provision has also been made for special headling within the Office of Personnel of details of an unfavorable mature so that such information is made known only to those whe "meed to know" in erriving at a decision concerning employment; it will be turned over to the Office of Security if the applicant is selected for processing. In addition to serving the process purposes of the Personal History Statement as a basic comment for employment consideration and security impetigation, the revised forms will be used as the basic document for ording qualifications and personal data for various screening and statistic in purposes.
- 3. Tab 5 (attached) constitutes an abbreviated Personal History Statement for periodic resurvey of on duty personnel or those items of personal status and background which are subject to change, such as asrital and dependency status, relatives residing abread, financial status, and education. The supplement provides a mechanic for immediate reporting of important changes, however, the primary control for obtaining changes in such infortation would be the mandatory completion of all or partiment parties of this form each year by each employee on the auniversary of him entrance on duty with the erganisation.

SUBJECT: Revised Personal History Statement and Annual Supplement

- 4. Your particular attention is invited to those Sections of the Supplement concerning relatives residing abroad and foreign relatives and financial status. These are areas in which you have expressed interest in accomplishing a current survey of on duty personnel. Adoption of this form with the required annual reporting will allow the conduct of such a survey over the next twelve months in a routine, scheduled manner which will not create any special workload increase to process the data or undue concern on the part of employees as to special interest in these particular subjects. For this reason, the form prepared for initial use requires that such employee fill out these sections whether or not the same. information has been furnished previously. In succeeding years only the name, address, and emergency addresses information will be required except when changes have occurred since the last reporting of information in the other areas covered by the Supplement. A short form will be issued for those individuals with no changes to report.
- 5. You will notice that the annual supplement provides for a description of Agency assignments by the employee. To a certain extent, this item duplicates information already maintained mechanically as to position title and occupational series. However, we are able to do a more refined job of qualification coding from the employee's description of his duties and consider the item worthwhile in spite of the additional work involved for the individual completing the form.
- 6. We have considered incorporating into the Personal History Statement questions designed to elicit information concerning the wives of male applicants which would be helpful in considering them for overseas assignment. There are alternative means of meeting this objective, such as amendment of the Fitness Report (Part II, Potential) or interviews. Since our proposal in this regard has not reached a stage at which we are prepared to make formal recembendations, however, we believe the current revision of the Personal History Statement should proceed.
- 7. It is recommended that you approve the adoption of the proposed forms and the requirement that each employee submit a Supplement form annually.
